

PROGRAM PHILOSOPHY

Individuals in need of addictions treatment often are experiencing stressors in the related life domains of work, family, school, spirituality, leisure, income. We make every effort to treat individuals holistically. Clients are encouraged to participate fully in all aspects of treatment, addressing all life domains in their efforts to sustain a productive and substance free lifestyle. This participation is necessary in the creation of a safe and confidential treatment environment. Services are provided in coordination and cooperation with services funded by Mental Health, CalWORKS, Child Protective Services, Probation, and/or other services and agencies as needed.

The Inyo County program approach to recovery is based on the fundamental ideas that alcohol and other drug addiction is a progressive disease. Individuals suffering from the disease of alcohol and/or drug addiction have a right to recovery. Family, friends and the community are a source of help for the alcoholic/addict.

Alcohol and drug addictions are symptoms of an active disease.

The immediate goal of our program is to achieve recovery for the individual and successfully address the negative emotional effects caused within the family. Our overall goal for the individual is the development of appropriate recovery skills and supports necessary to lead an alcohol and/or drug free, productive life.
