Board of Supervisors Ends COVID-19 Emergency

INDEPENDENCE – The emergency declared as the result of COVID-19 is now officially over in Inyo County.

On Tuesday – following the leads of the Governor of California and Inyo County Public Health Officer – the Board approved the rescission of Resolution 2020-12, effective February 28, 2023. The resolution was originally approved on March 17, 2020 at the start of the “shutdown” to proclaim the existence of a local emergency due to the pandemic.

Governor Gavin Newsom rescinded his statewide emergency proclamation effective February 28, and Inyo County Public Health Officer Dr. James Richardson rescinded his proclamation effective 11:59 p.m. February 27.

Dr. Richardson noted that the County will resume with public health guidance and response efforts that align with current and future State Department of Public Health orders, as well as current and future guidance from the California Division of Occupational Safety and Health (OSHA).
