He introduced Mr. Shane Huntley of Nite Owl Transportation, which is the Company that had been providing the waste tire hauling services for the past twelve years. Mr. Huntley that while he is providing the services the contract dollars are staying local and benefitting the local economy, noting that American Refuse contract dollars will be spent outside of Inyo County and not for local benefit. Mr. Huntley explained the difference between his bid and the bid received from American Refuse, noting the difference is in his gasoline surcharge. He said that when the bid was submitted the price of gas was much higher and now that the price of gas has gone down his bid would actually be the low bid. Mr. Huntley also expressed his concern that this is a three year contract, suggesting a one year contract might be better because of the volatility of gasoline prices, which over the next three years could go down substantially. The Board and Mr. Huntley discussed the issue of a multi-year contract, with the Board acknowledging Mr. Huntley's concerns, while also recognizing that a three year contract will control the contract price which could also escalate in a three year period to the detriment of the County.
